“ Today is Christmas eve and Andrea, Amy and I are preparing "Little Hats" as our tradition when Andrea is in town. We cant help but remember the anecdotes that go with the all day cooking process like "don't eat the meat.. Your gonna get worms"

Ill always remember gamma as a "spoiler" Always telling me to eat or drink something. and not giving up until I did. And the bags of groceries that we HAD to take with us when we visited.(the Banter between grandma and grandpa Joe was pure magic) I don't watch baseball much but once her and I watched an entire tiger game with me sitting in grandpa's chair and her making sure I had a fresh beer (They lost in the 9th). And certainly her Florida trip cant be forgotten.... SUCH FUN and POSITIVITY....

*They say that you are only truly dead when the last person on earth utters your name. Please rest assured that as long as Amy and I around we will smile and remember. Have a WARM holiday season
