“ John was not only my uncle but also my godfather. I'll always remember what a ray of sunshine he was to be around. He was usually laughing and cracking jokes and was a lot of fun. He had an infectious laugh and a great personality. My deepest sympathies go out to Cindy and the entire Wilt family. We will all miss him very much.

“ I first met John at the tender age of 6 years old. On our first meeting i saw a young boy that didn't weight 40 lbs., had a full head of red hair, fair complexion with many freckles and when he smiled he grinned from ear to ear and had a low chuckle of a laugh. Over time spending time with the family you could see that he was young inquisitive person with an imaginative mind as to how things were made, why they were made and if they could be taken apart and put back together. As he matured with age his mechanical ability matured and he ventured into the Skilled Trades, which was making and repairing automotive dies for the automotive industry. John was very talented in his occupation. As a loving husband and father of 3 children he devoted all his free time to them, but always was willing to help someone in need of help in the neighborhood or the family. In time his children found their souls mates, married, and over time he was blessed with 4 grand children. He was very proud as to how his children succeeded in life. Over the past few years we would meet with John and Cindy for breakfast. Breakfast was more of Brunch Date, as neither one of us liked to get up early. He was the same person as when i first met him, with exception that the wind took his red hair. the freckles faded away, he gained a few pounds, but that infectious smile and laugh was till there along with the chuckle of a laugh. We would discuss family issues, daily matters, world events, and eventually it would lead too his grand babies. If he mentioned that he was going to visit or babysit the grand babies he became an excited and very happy person as they were the joys of his life. You talk about a big grinning smile, he was beaming from ear to ear. He couldn't wait to board the AmTrack train to see his girls at Jasons home or knowing he was going to babysit Braydon and his sister at J. D.'s home. Life doesn't get any better then that when you are the grand parents. I will miss John, as so will many others that know or are related to him. Each of us have personal stories and memories concerning John. Some of these can told later over the years and others will be kept close to our heart as it was personal. I have known John for over 58 years, and have been his brother in law for over 56 years. May he rest in peace. Till we see one another again.

“ Our dad call you skeets and our mom called you sunshine. That is what you were. A ray of sunshine, and that never changed. Always making everyone smile with your happy go lucky personality and your witty sense of humor. Always ready with a quick joke. I will always remember your laugh. Other names you have been besides son, husband, father, papa, brother. I am proud and happy to have been the one to call you my brother. I will miss you more than words can say. Your loving sister, Diane.
