“ Joe was always a good friend. He could actually give a lending ear to whomever needed it. Joe loved life. Rest easy my friend.

“ If you are ever so lucky to have a friend that is like family, you are blessed, indeed! Joe is a brother to me. I have had many great memories flash through my mind these past couple of days. I was a "Leprechaun" with Joe in elementary school. We always joked about it when we got together. We shared years at Artco Construction. We built his family's home together along with Joe Junior. That became the foundation for my life's work. As I grasp to comprehend the complex weaving of a lifetime of Faith, Family, Friendship and Fun I can only say that people like Joe, make life special. Laughter was always present in Joe's company. I have an astonishing amount of loving memories to carry forward. It is such an honor to know such a loving man and family. I will miss you, Bro! God Bless you all.

Love,

“ Where do I begin ,how do you summarize a lifetime of memories shared with someone who has inspired us all.I will first start by saying that I am honored to have been one of the many friends Joe has made and lives he would so dearly touch. I know why he was so wonderful,he is part of a family so very special to all who know them. I have so much to say and stories to tell , I’m struggling to keep it short as I’m fighting heart -wrenching emotion. To describe Joe as just a friend would be a total understatement. He is a inspiration, teacher and a true motivator to say the least. We called Joe “ Hollywood” a name which described him as he was bigger than life, a bright light in a sometimes grey sky. I want to share a story I was reluctant to share, but I hope will be received as intended. The last conversation I had with Joe he said to me “You have been a good friend” I knew at that moment that this would be our last conversation as did he. I told him that I loved him and he was the same, a true friend!

The morning of Joe’s passing I removed the last of the Christmas decorations - 3 candles from the upstairs windows.I removed the batteries which lit them at night and set them aside to be put away till next year. I went about the business of replacing the window blinds as part of the never ending honey do list. Trying to focus on the task at hand,I could only think of Joe ,as tears filled my eye’s I reached for one of the candles and lifted it up and asked JOE “are you ok, are you happy and at peace. Immediately in my mind I heard Joe say - D Dubbs you dumb ass put the batteries in. My whole mood completely changed ,I laughed to myself and set the candle down. When I turned to continue the task I noticed the light was on on the cordless drill that I was about to use. Coincidence I thought ,but as I reached for the driver (different tool) the light eliminated ,I knew Joe wanted me to know he is at peace. I strongly feel he wanted me to tell this story as I have erased it twice and tried to complete my thoughts but could not leave it out.

God Bless you my friend You will always be missed
But never forgotten!

*Joe was an hourly coordinator for years of St. Kieran Perpetual Adoration Chapel and was faithful to his own prayer hour as well as his duty to being a coordinator. He was charged with keeping two committed adorers in the chapel, getting a sub if someone could not keep their hour or taking the hour himself. If memory serves me right, he had an hour when most people would be sleeping, 11- midnight or later. As coordinator, he faithfully attended the scheduled adoration committee meetings and social functions along with his wife, Penny. His greetings before and/or after Mass were always warm and friendly and he was interested in you and your well being. Joe will be missed. Hopefully, will see him one day along with all the saints adoring the God he strove to adore and serve on earth. Rest In Peace, dear Joe.

That was a wonderful story...Geeze David, I don't know where I would begin with stories...running around on Devil's Night, doing Chinese drills in the red pick up, hanging out in the Buczak's basement or in my living room, on & on & on....We were all truly blessed! XOXO

“ I am very sorry to hear of the passing of Uncle Joe. Whether it was loaning me a party tent for my wedding or allowing my friends to camp out on his property, Uncle Joe always epitomized kindness. Whenever I would thank Uncle Joe for anything, he'd always tell me the same thing: "Billy any time, man. You're family."

My favorite memories of Uncle Joe all revolve around him and my dad riding around on the four wheeler and joining our bonfire parties at the back of his property. Joe was always good for more than a few laughs, and he was a big hit with my friends because of his candor and kindness.

Uncle Joe was a great guy, with great values and a kind heart. I'll miss him a lot, and I feel fortunate to have been his family member. I extend my sincere condolences to Aunt Penny, Joey, Nicole, and rest of the extended Moore family.

“ So long for now.

We will remember you through the many people still left behind whose lives you touched so positively. You may not realize it, but you leave an amazing legacy behind, four beautiful grandchildren, and two exceptional children. They are your legacy! Through them, you leave this world a better place than when you found it, and for that, we all very proud and blessed.

Brother Joe, it is tough to say goodbye so we will just say so long, brother. The pages of your book will never be closed, and we will continue to add more stories through each generation. We will miss you, but we will always remember the many memories you left us, respect, admiration, and love, always, always!

We'll end this tribute by echoing what Joe would want - "Go spend time with your family and friends, give them a big hug and tell them you love them." Keep celebrating life.

“ We are heartbroken to hear of Joe's passing. We've been blessed to know Joe for many years now, both as a bus passenger and a visitor to the Senior Center.

Joe was a gentleman of the first order and someone who was never without a smile. In spite of his significant health challenges, he never missed an opportunity to say hello and ask how you were. He always had a laugh and a story to tell. He loved his family beyond measure. He had tremendous patience, whether we were scheduling bus appointments or he was waiting for a pick up, he was quick to say, "I don't mind waiting." He truly appreciated each day he was given.

Our thoughts and prayers are with you all. We will miss Joe very much.
