“ *To the Family
My Deepest Sympathies to all of you Your all in my thoughts & prayers at this very difficult time .My heart breaks & I'm filled with such sadness for all of you , loosing both my parents I know the pain & hurt your going threw .*

Your Father was such a Wonderful Man

He loved his family so much & was so very proud of all of you ! His face would light up & smile ear to ear talking about all of you .

I'm gonna Miss our talks & visits and all his wisdom & knowledge & hearing his laugh .

My love of yellow goldfinches & outside birds came from your parents feeding & teaching me about them & what to feed them ,old school (long before Google)

Your parents will always have special place in my heart ❤️ they were my god parents

I'm so glad the past 6 years I was able to live next door to your Dad again & will have those memories

“ Lou gave me my big break into the working world when he hired me at Chrysler in January of 1978 in the Graphics Department in Highland Park. I had some graphic arts experience, but I knew nothing about the automotive industry. He said I would learn a lot about that in the coming years, and he sure was right. The good pay, insurance benefits, and numerous perks associated with being in a union have all contributed to a very good life for me and my family which I thank Lou from the bottom of my heart. Having the fortune of being able to comfortably retire is something I also owe to Lou. He was the best boss a person could ever have. He treated everybody with respect, played no favorites, and gave everyone a fair shake. Long before there was a thing called "diversity," Lou's department was a cross section of many peoples--Asian, African-American, male, female, young, old--a true collection of some very colorful people that I was glad to be a part of. His sense of humor and non micro-managing style made for a very easy and pleasant working atmosphere. The days in Highland Park were some of the best.

Lou, thanks again for the big break and rest in peace. You were the best.

“ I saw a lot of 'Lou' over the years, after all our families practically grew up together, we lived across the street from him for the last 60 years. My dad loved to sit outside in the driveway and watch the world go by and when Lou was passing on his way home he regularly stopped by to have a chat with my dad, and any of us who were there.

He was my dad's brother and they were close as brothers could be. He was like a second father to us, he was our "Uncle Louie", and he was, and always will be my Godfather. Rest In Peace Uncle Lou.

With sincere condolences for my cousins and all their families,
he was loved and will be missed,
Joe
