“The world lost a great man! Mr. Zito and his wife Betty were friends of my grandparents when we moved from Chicago to Tennessee, they met in church. I never knew him much until my grandparents passed. After the funeral the following week Mr. Zito came to my auto repair shop and brought me lunch. He was so interesting of a man with so much self taught knowledge. The stories he would tell from his many years in General Motors was amazing the designs and knowledge he had. He would come back every couple months and hang around the shop, talk to us and customers. I truly don't think there was a nicer man on this planet, obviously god thought so too and gave him a wonderful long life. Mr Zito you will definitely be missed by me Marty Milner and please say hi to my grandparents when you play a game of cards up there in heaven.

“My father, sisters and I just heard this sad news about "Joe", nearly two months after his passing. Our dad is one of his two stepsons. He was our paternal grandmother's second husband, and we all have cherished memories of him while we growing up in Detroit during the 1950s and '60s. As adults we learned to appreciate quality conversations with him, as well as how much he loved our "Grandma Zito", who lived to be 99 years old under his tender care in Tennessee. He was one brilliant man, extremely well read and highly opinionated but always equipped with facts to back his views a really tough guy to debate, for sure! Down deep, he was kind and generous, and will always hold a special place in our hearts. May he rest in peace.”

“I just found out about Uncle Joe's passing this morning. He was married to my father's sister Elizabeth. He was a kind, gentle and generous person who really helped out our family in hard times. I had visited him several times in Tennesse and really cherish the many special moments and conversations with him. He will be missed!!! Phillip”
