“ To My Dear Nino
My Brother my Pillar and Best Friend..We have been thru a lot of good and bad times over the years but we were always there for each other and that is what a brother and sister do. We may have disagreed but in the end we always told each other "Love You". You are now with Mom and Dad and Anthony so please watch over us and pray for us. Just know you will always be in my heart and I will miss you everyday.

Rest in Peace

Love you always
Mary

“ I was profoundly saddened to hear of Nino's untimely passing. My sincerest condolences to his family. We worked together at FCA for many years in Interiors. It was my privelige to know this talented, soft spoken, funny and humble guy. He spoke lovingly of his Family, shared stories of his hardworking Dad and Mom. I would always pester him for Sicilian recipes which he jealously guarded as family secrets. Nino was always a funny guy to have a conversation with and he definitely left a legacy and now pleasant memories. One of the funniest incidents was when we worked in the department which designed interior vehicle parts. Nino designed one of the knee blockers of the Viper, a high powered 2 seater, fitting because of his DiTommaso lineage. He was rewarded by our management by allowing him to take one for a "test drive". So he saddled up with one of his Homeys Don "Super D" Mahoney. Out of the gate Nino and Super D went, with Nino uttering the now ubiquitous proclamation " OK Super D watch this" as he punched it around the first curve. Well the Viper was notorious for squirrelly handling especially for the uninitiated. Out of control it went, nearly taking out the Guard Shack, a tree and the fence. Luckily neither were seriously hurt, but unfortunately for the Designer community Vipers were deemed off limits by management from then on. Nobody really held it against him, testimony to his high standing with his peers. Nino will be profoundly missed among those who knew this kind, gentle soul. RIP Nino, we will miss you!

“Our lives are but specks of dust falling through the fingers of time. Like sands of the hourglass, so are the days of our lives.” Socrates

Each life begins with seconds, seconds become minutes, followed by hours, then days. Weeks turn into months and months into years. Suddenly, we stop, look around, and find ourselves wondering where did the time go?

While thinking of you, I flip through the pages of my memory and recall moments, gatherings which were characterized with family, friends, food, and laughter. As I time travel, I am reminded of those who have past and find comfort in knowing that they were with you, as He called, to guide you home, basking in their warmth and light.

You are forever in our hearts Nino. Until we meet again.
