“ Mom the day is here. You lived a beautiful life and shared so much with our family. You are the BEST Wife, Mother, Grandmother and Great Grandmother. I am so thankful for the full life you lived and shared with our family. Friday night dinners every week for years, swimming in the pool with the kids, lunch dates and shopping, hiding Christmas gifts, teaching me to hang striped wallpaper in our first home (lol) and so many Happy Meals I could never count, All the beautiful gifts that you made for me and the girls over the years will be cherished forever. The night before Thanksgiving with the kids and so many more wonderful memories. Your family loves you so much and I don't know how I will survive the next days, week, months, the future. You said last week, I am your first born, forever. I will carry that conversation the rest of my days. .Know that I will carry you close in my heart, you are a part of me, as I am a part of you and we all belong to our Heavenly Father. We will continue to care for each other and Dad, the way you taught us from the beginning. I am praying that your heart and soul are at peace, I know I made the right decision the other day, about Dad's tie, and you were there to let me know. Today will be hard, but our life was beautiful. I love you so much, and look forward to the day we are reunited in Heaven. Rest easy Mom, you worked hard for your whole life, With a Heart FULL of Love and Gratitude. Your first born, forever. Love, Terri <3

*Saying goodbye to the BEST Mom and Grandmother is terrible, but I will remember the laughs and the Bronner's visits, the suckers, all the lunch dates when the kids were small,...all the amazing holidays that you made absolutely perfect...I will never make the seven layer salad as good as you, but I will try! We will take care of Dad for you, and I will miss you everyday of my life..As promised with a pinky swear, the fresh flowers will be there! I love you Mom!
I am heartbroken...Hugs and kisses forever
