“ I knew Rob when his boys were young, Robby and Michael, and Zachary was a toddler, before Kaitlyn was even born. Taking our kids sledding, helping him set up the pool at their home in Eastpointe, our time at Church and beyond.... Our families grew apart but the time and the memories spent made us and our kids who we became today. I'm a better person because God worked through Rob in my life. Keep the pool up there open until we see you again, Rob! Thank you for being you.

Rob was a great brother in law and male figure in my life when I did not have one... he taught me how to drive my first stick shift and taught me how I was to be treated by a man..... with respect!!! Which he always was... respectful. I love you so much and I'm so sorry for your suffering and I'm glad that you're up in heaven with Papa now. until we meet again ❤️🦋

Having Rob as a son-in-law was a dad's dream. My wife and I have numerous wonderful memories of him. All of them reflected his character, humor, love for his family, respect for others, and never-ending love for my daughter June. Rob, though his years of battling cancer, remarkably kept the attention off himself, continuing to be the faithful anchor of his family and blessing to us. He fought his fight with unselfish honor. May God bless his family with loving memories to carry them through the years ahead until they are once again united in Heaven. We love you Rob.
