“Brian of special to me because he was my only brother, and I thought that was pretty cool to have a brother. I loved his chuckle it reminded me of spring. I remember he was babysitting my sister and I and we were watching TV and then he went to the Office and Emily and I followed him and he was playing an online card game on his computer and at the bottom of the screen you could chat. Brian was supposed to write "Hi Buddy" but I guess there was a spell check and he accidentally said "Hi Bunny" I wasn't looking when he sent that but Emily did and she and Brian started laughing and I was wondering why and she told me and then we all started laugh! :) and I remember Emily brought up a game called "Chess" and we asked Brian if he knew how to play and he said "I've played it before but not in a long time" so we started reading the directions and we didn't get it at all so we started playing the game our own way. I remember we went to go shopping to Kroger and Brian and Emily waited outside and while Me and my mom went inside to get our things that we needed and I walked outside I saw Emily and Brian playing with a ball that Brian bought her ball and Brian bounced it SO HIGH it almost went over the roof! Last but not least he was going to eat a sandwich and my mom bought circle bread and u have to peel it apart because it was like a hamburger bun and Brian didn't know that it was like a hamburger bun so he took 2 things of it and when I saw him eating it I said "you know you had to pull the bread apart?" And then he looked at me and said "oh that's why it's so thick!" And we both chuckled. I really miss him. I miss everything about him his chuckle, laughter, and how he would always greet us. He would say "Hi" in like a energized voice and I liked that :) So I hope Brian rests in peace"

“Although I haven't seen Brian in many years he was my neighbor some years ago. I'm still in shock after what happened I just heard about it yesterday online and I can't believe it. I've never known anybody with a stronger conviction to his religious beliefs than Brian. Every time he would preach I would always listen and he could get through to me about the word better than anyone else. I will always miss Brian and I learned a lot from him God bless him.”

“When I heard you were gone a part of my heart broke forever. You were the first real friend I made when I moved to GPW. You befriended me when I was in a very dark and lonely place. My first friend, my first boyfriend, my hope when life was scary and the road was rough. Over the past 23 years we've grown apart yet we always found a way back into each others lives. We always understood each other no matter the differences between us. I miss you bro, I miss our long winded messages and conversations. Thank you for saving me, rest in peace Brian.”

“I met Brain when I was about 12 yrs old, a good 17yrs ago. We called him preacher because he was always preaching the good lords words. You opened my eyes about to a whlle different world through your words. I'm not sure what I will do without you kinda words to help lift me up but I do know that I will carry on your passion everyday. You are truly missed and loved.”

“I met Brian through his mother, Sandy, and spent many great conversations with him about music, God and friends. He was thankful for his mom and family's help. He and I had a fun trip to Tennessee to see his Aunt Patti and Uncle Winslow, my dear friends. We listened to so much music that trip and went into Nashville and heard live music. He inspired me with his faith in God and was always kind, in the times we visited. I'm thankful we were friends in my life. I keep thinking of his meeting with his beloved and how joyous he must be. We will miss him here. I will pray for his mother and all of his family who he was so close with. Eternally in God, always and forever, Brian..”

“Brian was instrumental in getting me where I needed to be in life. I am where I am because of him. His words, his wisdom helped become the man I am. I know that he is at the Lord's side now fighting the good fight. I wish I could have seen him one more time and gotten one last dose of the true wisdom within.”

“So sorry about your loss. I can only imagine your pain, but I do know that in the 20 years that I've known you, you were a giving, caring and wonderful mother. You were always trying to help and you were there for him. May you find peace, comfort and strength from your faith, loving husband, and your other two beautiful girls. Your son is in God's hands and he is at peace. We will keep you in our prayers and know that we love you and sincerely care. God Bless!”

“What can I say about Brian, he was one of my first real friends. He had a big heart and always meant well. All though years have gone by and we grew more distant. I will always hold you close to my heart. You were one of closest friends as a teen & by my side through very, very many rough times. The last time I seen brian. I was in a low place in my life. He smiled big at me & told me why I needed to appreciate what I had. I woke up the next day & wrote a song inspired by him. I hope he knows wherever he is & his family knows how much he did for people. Brian the memories we made as kids will last a life time & your kind words will go on forever. love you brother, your friend Levi..”

“Brian was the man that I had my first relationship with, I was 20 years old at the time and he was 28. The first time I met him, I snuck out while my family was away and we spent a weekend together. We had a blast talking and getting to know each other. I arrived by greyhound bus and a dear friend of his, Angie, brought him to the bus station and picked me up. We drove around for a bit just talking and enjoying time together. It was sad to go home at the end of the weekend and we were able to see each other again once in Canada for a weekend and I got to show him around where I come from. Although things did not work out for us, we occasionally kept contact and he was a man trying to keep hard to his faith. I was blessed to know Brian and I am sending love and hugs to his family!”
