“ My amazing sister Cathy, you brought joy and love with your strength even in times of sadness . You were my protector growing up, nobody messed with me because you stood by me. We had a special bond from marriages and our beautiful children to astrology and spirituality.

As kids, I remember riding horses down our dirt road and riding bikes when St. Clair Shores was really rural. Swimming and skating on Lake St. Clair with friends, and family picnics with Sharp, Parker and DeFever families. I remember her going to see Elvis Presley as a teen and taking pictures that mysteriously disappeared when the film was developed; yes, she was pissed. She was not afraid to be adventurous and expand her life and learning.

She has returned home across the veil to be with those that have passed before her, those family and friends now free of physical limitation. As I said to her before she left, love lives on.

Here's a poem I wrote to honor her a few years ago. Love you Cathy...Judi

THE STRONG WOMAN I KNOW

Judi Angel © 2019

*On the Ides of March she was born
As a cold wind blew on a Saturday morn
When times everywhere were hard
In lands that a world war scarred*

*A sweet little baby with a bright little face
Joined a family where she took her place
Among parents, older brother and sisters
Who watched her grow, loved and kissed her*

*As smart as a whip and fast with a retort
Sometimes wild, as I can honestly report*

Outspoken and strong when she needed to be Protecting all the ones she loved, like me

*She is the strong woman I know
Whose life I watched bloom and grow
Thru life's trials and tribulations
With some pain and varying relations*

*The love of her life, her two little girls
As sweet as could be like two precious pearls
One taken from life much too soon
And one full of life, playing life's magical tune*

*She is my sister, you see, now living a quiet life
Her mind oblivious to the world so rife
With people caring for her and so frail
Part here, yet peeking thru the veil*

*So in my words today I honor her
And I know she would concur
Her best she would want to show
For she is the strong woman I know
030152019*

For love is here and always lives on*

“ My name is Jan and I was the newest member of Cathy's care team. I was with her only about 2 years. My prayers and condolences go out to all who love her and will miss her deeply. Although I never had the pleasure of knowing her before her illness, I am honored to have been trusted to care for you loved one. I too will miss her and she will never be forgotten. I will remember her strength, her beautiful smile and her beautiful blue eyes. ❤️

“ Since the ninth grade I have been Cathy's friend and kept in touch through out the years. We had the best time growing up and shared many secrets. I will truly miss this crazy, fun girl who gave me so many fun times.

I also worked with Cathy for a while. And we traveled with her business from Ohio to Canada to promote her products. She was a great business woman who was very successful in her line of work. She never neglected her children when she went on the road, her mom was always there to watch them. She never missed a play or concert her girls were in. (this I know because I was there for some of them) She was so very proud of Eve and Leigh and always bragged about her talented daughters.

Cathy will be missed by so many.
