“ We miss you so much Chris. I will continue to take such good care of our girls and my heart will be full when we are all together again. I promise to keep the girls close to your mom and check on her always. Love, Abby

“ I still remember my very first 911 call like it was yesterday. Chris and I were responding to a seizure and he was training me. He saw I was nervous and instantly made me feel at ease without a speck of judgement. He had a way of lightening the mood in the most intense moments. The man cracked jokes while simultaneously saving lives. What a man, what a personality. Gone but not forgotten, that's for damn sure.

Chris was a Great Guy with a Good Heart.
A few Years ago Chris had a conversation with Our Son, 10 at the time, and there were no barriers.
Like they were somehow familiar already, they had just met.
It started with a Rick and Morty painting He had received from a Friend/Co-worker.

Chris was my cousin but my kids ages. He was a funny guy and loved his girls and mom. I can't imagine the pain they're going through. I love my family and two of my girls have battled cancer. If I could e id give my life to save any of them. I still have my girls which I thank God always for. If I could take your pain Aunt Linda I would. He will be missed and never forgotten.

“ I worked with Chris at Universal. I remember how much he loved his daughters and how proud of them he was. He was a great paramedic and an even better human being. I loved working with him. He was one of the funniest guys I ever met but knew how to handle his business when it mattered. I regret not keeping in touch with him more often. The world was better with him in it. Rest easy my man! My thoughts and prayers are with his family.

“ So sorry to hear of Chris’s passing. He was a great person. I was his partner for a while at Universal. He would always make a bad shift better whether it was him being goofy or telling a joke. I remember one night shift, we had just finished a call and had to go get gas, we were blasting Carry on my Wayward Son on the radio and just belting out the lyrics. He will be missed. May the Lord be with your family through this difficult time. Sending prayers 🙏...
