“George is the best friend a person could have. I met Georgie in 2nd grade. Years could go by, and we could call or email and pick up right where we left off, same if it was 2 weeks or 2 years. We would remember Dixie Hwy days. shooting BB guns, making oil drum fires, fishing , fishing, fishing, car racing, tubing, boat rowing, snowmobiling on the lake, riding down to Marsack creek. Hanging out in the fort, when our sisters let us. We were going to be race car drivers , We were going to be rock stars , too. We spied on his older brothers and wrote songs. We had secrets, We were blood brothers. We had pepporcicni eating contests. We ate french fries, we went to Bay-o-rama, and Georgie always won the mirror. We bought penny candy and bet on everything -the wager was usually "swedish fish". We sold worms to the city guys in their Cadillacs going to Fair Haven to fish. While we talked about who was cooler, Foghat or Bad Company? We threw apples over the house and made them land in the lake. Georgie treated me like a brother, the skinny, nerdy brother next door. Georgie fed me- giving me his food that his Mom made. (Best food ever) When we got older and had our own kids we would walk down memory lane and talk of all the good times. We would discuss racing, NASCAR, Ford vs Mopar, DODGE superioirty, current events, past events, future plans, Everybody who met George, I'm sure remembers him and his positivity. And always smiling. GREAT guy period. 5000 miles and an ocean still didn't keep George from being my "bud" . He'd pick up the phone and say " Hey bud, It's Georgie, I would say "What's up bud?" And we would pick up like we were two kids fishing Anchor Bay. Kenny and Georgie just fishing and talking. I honestly can say knowing him impacted my life. He was a proud husband, a proud father, and always had great things to share. He could be relied on to help, listen, and advise and share. Best friend a guy could ever have.”

“All of us at Mr. Enclosure were so deeply saddened to hear of George's passing. He was one of the nicest individuals to have known. Over the years, we got to know George very well as he would come in at least once a week to at least drop off a paper and try to give us the best advertising deal possible. With each visit, we would all here the wonderful stories of his wife and children. With each pregnancy, George would come in and tell us he had good news, he was so proud and so in love with his wife and children. Each time a child was born, George would tell us of every detail as if it were the first pregnancy and birth and all of us girls so admired the love he had for his wife and family. I cannot even imagine the hole that it has left in the hearts of the Walter's family. George knew my father very well as my father worked at Mr. Enclosure for a very long time, when my father passed and my life was crushed, George was there with a kind word each week, never forgetting to ask how I was doing or how my family was. He repeatedly told me wonderful stories about my dad, I will never forget that. I am in another state now, but I wish I could have been there to tell you all how lucky you were to have George in your life and how lucky we were to have him as our friend and our advertising agent. May God bless you all with grace and may His peace be with you as you journey through this grief. With Sincere Sympathy, Linde Myers, Mr. Enclosure”
