“ John was one of the most knowledgeable people I have ever met. Over the 58 years I have known him, I found John to be an open, friendly and congenial man, who formed a solid relationship with almost everyone who crossed his path. He was a natural leader and his relationships with others inspired them to follow. Even before I met him, his reputation for technical excellence was known by the entire Fisher Body Data Processing crew. He was a programmer's programmer - remarkably proficient in multiple coding languages and author of several complex systems and algorithms. I've lost count of how many times he helped and bailed me out.

John was a great father. He and Arlene raised an excellent family that exemplify their parent's love, kindness and influence. Arlene has our respect and admiration for the family she and John nurtured and their 60 plus years together.

He was a dear friend who I will never forget and I already miss him so much.
