“ I'm miss you so much. When I walk in your room I start crying and going the the compter room because I don't want the kids in our class to look at me lol. I hope you don't mind bu...t I took my poem that I wrote last month off the wall and I'm framing it. You were the only teacher at the high school I could talk to about anything. When I would come into your class not smiling you would make me smile because yours was contagious. I remember the last day I talked to you we were making fun of that pants on the ground song and how half of the boys at our school need to pull theres up. You had the most beautiful heart at HPHS. You touched so many peoples ...lifes including mine. I'm always going to keep that marron lanard you gave me for my ID. Ugh its not fair that god took you, we needed you more here. The other day you kept me after class and talked to me about how you wanted me to do well and don't let a of my famiy fighting get in between it. you always looked for ways to help people. You were always laughing and smiling. You always asked how cheer was going and talked about all the times when you were a coach. We... talked for so long and you really changed my thinking. I really just want to make you proud. It just doesn't seem like this is real. You were so heartfelt and you reached out to so many people . I'm just so thankful that I got to know you. Whenever I am cryin becuase of you I read that thing I wrote about you to help other people cope with your death....You can shed tears that she is gone, or you can smile because she has lived. You can close your eyes and pray that she'll come back, or you can open your eyes and see all she's left. Your heart can be empty because you can't see her, or you can be full of the love you shared. You can turn your back on tomorrow and live yesterday, or you can be happy for tomorrow because of yesterday. You can remember her only that she is gone, or you can cherish her memory and let it live on. You can cry and close your mind, be empty and turn your back. Or you can do what she'd want: smile, open your eyes, love and go on.

My hearts breaks everytime I think about Mr. Barnett and the boys, they'll always be in my prayers and so will your family. YOU will ALWAYS have a special place in my heart. I love you Mrs. Barnett, you're my shine!

“ I had Mrs. Barnett for Medical Terminology back when I was a sophomore. Everyday I looked forward to that class because Mrs. B was so upbeat, and she cared about her students. I will miss her. Fair Winds and following seas. Semper Fidelis.

“ I have known Mrs. Barnetts family since I moved to Michigan from Las Vegas. Right off the bat she made me feel so welcome. She never turned her back on anyone and that was something I truly adored about her. If it weren't for Mrs. B i would have never been where I am today. She was a role model and she taught me not to take a single day for granted. I will miss her dearly.

“ I graduated from HPHS. I had Mrs. Barnett for Medical Terminology. Every time class would start I would look forward to seeing Mrs. B smile. Something about her gave a unique glow. I had very bad self-esteem when I went to her class at fist, but then when I fist got to know her I started to feel better knowing that a teacher like her is truly one of a kind. Mr. Barnett was awesome in high school as well. I used to have short conversations with him during lunch. May God shine His light over the Barnett/Mayo family. He will always love you, and He is there always when you need Him. God Bless Kyna Barnett and her family that she left behind.
