“ My memories are countless. I would probably use all of the available data space and crash this site if I listed even a few. Each and every memory will be cherished in my heart forever. Frosty was one of a kind. Big burly guy with that infamous deep raspy voice, but a soft teddy bear on the inside. He especially opened that loving heart to me after my beloved husband died last year (Ray Pisching aka JohnnyRay)...one of his best buddies. He always checked in on me to make sure I was okay and offer all of his support. We would laugh, cry, and reminisce endlessly about the good ole days. To say I will miss him is an understatement. Heaven gained another angel. RIP my friend, until we meet again.

“ I worked for (with) "Frosty" for several years, he was a mentor, a teacher and a friend. His family was like family to me and, to my family. I remember being in Turkey and special ordering a Turkish made shotgun. He loved to hunt birds. God has certainly gained another angel. You'll be missed old friend.
