“ "Bob, you were such a big part of our lives. We feel the void when we visit your house, go camping and celebrate our kids. Blake continues to ask God to bless you every night and I am grateful that he had 6 wonderful years with you as his godfather. We keep your memory alive with stories and jokes; Courtney even named her first car after one of your witty remarks. The pain from losing you doesn't go away, but we carry on as you would expect us to. I do believe the blue jay that visits our house is you in disguise telling us you are free from pain and doing alright. You can bet the Cameron's will keep watch over Gina and the kids. We love and miss you so -Holly, Scott, Nicole, Courtney and Blake"

“Bob- we miss you so much. So much of our time was spent with you, Gina and the kids that we certainly feel the void that losing you has left. Visits to your home, camping, concerts & celebrating our kids; all that's missing is that crazy grin and silly laugh of yours. We speak your name often, keeping your memory alive through stories and jokes. Blake asks God to bless you every night and I'm so grateful for the six years he had you as his Godfather. Courtney has even named her first car after one of your witty remarks. We have a blue jay that visits our home quite often and I do believe it may be you in disguise, telling us you are free from pain and doing alright. We continue to keep a watchful eye over Gina and the kids, embracing them with love and friendship to help ease the pain a bit. The Cameron's will always be there for your family; Scott and I will never break that promise we made to you. We love and miss you so
- Scott, Holly, Nicole, Courtney & Blake”

“Dear Urban Family...I'm really sorry for your loss. I had the honor and pleasure of working with and for Bob for many years, and have nothing but great memories and admiration for him. Besides being a great manager, person and friend, he genuinely cared about people, he supported me through tough times in my professional and personal life, and I value all the advice, and mentoring he gave me, I am very grateful to him for what he helped me with and to had had the opportunity to worked with him. Bob, and your family are on my prayers.”
